Presidential Inauguration
Patrick Henry Community College

CHARTING THE COURSE FOR THE NEXT FIFTY YEARS:
TOGETHER FORWARD

THE INAUGURATION OF PRESIDENT ANGELINE D. GODWIN
APRIL 25, 2014 – 2:00 PM
The Educator and the Gardener

The educator seeks fertile soil,
One ripe with the PH factor.
She then plants the seeds,
Small kernels of knowledge,
Minute morsels of enlightenment,
Mustard seeds of acceptance of others.

She waters them and waits as they take root
Hesitantly, at first,
Unsteady as a toddler taking his first solo step sans parents
Unsure and perhaps afraid of failure and maybe success.

The educator nurtures them regularly with words of encouragement.
“You can do it; I know you can.”
“Tu peux le faire. Je sais que tu peux.”

The gentle sun shines its brilliance and radiance
Igniting inquiring minds
To question tradition
To dare exploration
To dream of what they can become
To climb higher heights.

Like the Moabite woman in the fields,
She gleans the best from students
Offering constructive criticism,
Pruning weeds of self-doubt, roadblocks,
Building confidence by filling their buckets, so
They, too, in turn, can reciprocate.

Yet, she does not work alone or in isolation
A collaborative effort of worker bees takes place
Faculty, staff, administrators, community liaisons
Toil tirelessly to mold students into model citizens
To help them grow into responsible and contributing members
Of the community,
Then they can impart the PH factor to others
With CC- Consistent Care.

- Joyce Staples, Associate Professor of English

DR. ANGELINE GODWIN

Dr. Angeline Godwin became the third president of Patrick Henry Community College in July 2012. Prior to joining PHCC, Dr. Godwin’s academic experience includes serving as president, vice president, dean, professor and teacher at various educational institutions, including Ashland Community and Technical College, Jackson State Community College, the University of Southern Mississippi, and Michigan State University.

Along with her academic background, Dr. Godwin brings a unique perspective to the position gathered from a number of leadership positions in private industry, allowing her to work hand-in-hand with local business leaders and economic developers for the betterment of the community.

In addition to her administrative duties, Dr. Godwin keeps a personal touch with students by teaching classes and mentoring a Student Leadership Cabinet.

She lives in Martinsville with her husband, Jim Hatten.

DR. GLENN DUBOIS

In the summer of 2001 the Virginia Community College System welcomed Glenn DuBois to serve as its new chancellor. Since then, he has led the 23-college system through its first and into its second strategic plan, rising to the challenge of enduring both unprecedented enrollment growth and unprecedented cuts in state operating funds.

During his tenure, Virginia’s Community Colleges have signed groundbreaking guaranteed transfer agreements with more than two dozen public and private universities; become Virginia’s leading provider of workforce development services, helped Virginia close headline-grabbing economic development deals; diversified community college funding sources, doubling foundation-led private fundraising; and have maintained a tuition rate that is one-third of the comparable rate at Virginia’s universities.

DuBois received his doctorate in higher education administration, research and policy from the University of Massachusetts. He began his career at a community college in New York.

GERALD L. BALILES

Governor Gerald L. Baliles, Director and CEO of the Miller Center at the University of Virginia, served as the 65th Governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia. His tenure as governor capped a career in public service that included serving as the attorney general of Virginia (1982-85) and a member of the Virginia House of Delegates (1976-82). After leaving public office, he entered private law practice as an international trade and aviation partner in the firm of Hunton & Williams, LLP, headquartered in Richmond, Virginia.

Always a champion of education, he founded the Patrick County Education Foundation and served as chairman of the Commission on the Academic Presidency and for the Task Force on the State of the Presidency in Higher Education, for the Association of Governing Boards of Universities and Colleges.

In addition to eleven honorary degrees, Baliles holds a bachelor’s degree from Wesleyan University and a J.D. from the University of Virginia Law School. He became the Miller Center’s fifth director in April 2006. Founded in 1975, the Miller Center is a nonpartisan public policy institution devoted to studying, examining, and sharing information about American government and the presidency, and promoting discourse and bipartisan consensus on issues of national and international policy.

Governor Baliles and his wife Robin reside in Charlottesville, Virginia.
Patrick Henry Community College was founded in 1962 as a two-year branch of the University of Virginia’s School of General Studies and became an autonomous two-year college of the university two years later. The college joined the Virginia Community College in 1971 and is one of 23 community colleges in Virginia. Patrick Henry Community College celebrated its 50th anniversary in 2012.

PHCC is an equal opportunity/affirmative action institution. It is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges or SACSCOC to award the associate degree.
