

Patrick Henry Community College has a robust dual enrollment program. Courses can be identified in three different groups. Passport Courses are all transferable and will satisfy lower-division general education requirements at any public institution of higher education in Virginia in accordance with SCHEV Policy § 23.1-907 (B)-(C). Other courses that are considered transferable are included in the Intended for Transfer Group. Career and Technical Courses are a part of the college's occupational and technical programs which are designed to meet the demand of local business and industry. Career and Technical courses are not designed to transfer to four-year institutions.
